Program At Local Church Carried Out By College People

Twenty-two tuneful collegians in dignified black choir robes gave a program at the Congregational church Sunday night which was both beautiful and exhilarating.

After arching in to the tune of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," the youthful singers led the congregation in singing "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," "The Little Church in the Wildwood," and "Take the Name of Jesus With You."

Miss Dora Finnemore, a member of the Senior Christian Endeavor group which planned the service, was the evening's leader. She called on the Rev. J. H. Bennett, who described hitch-hiking collegians he had met.

Miss Muriel Crothers sang beautifully, "The Green Cathedral." A quartet, made up of Miss Crothers, soprano, Miss Annette Merrill, alto, Elmer Sundquist, tenor, and Abe Klassen, bass, presented, "Softly the Silent Night."

The scripture reading, given by Miss Evelyn Voge, was followed by "Grant Us Thy Peace," sung softly by the choir.

Anthems given by the choir, "Master, the Tempest is Raging," and "Now the Day is Over," closed the service.

FUTURE FARMERS TOLD HOW TO INCREASE FUNDS

By Steve Lapetalo

Dr. Bert J. Morrer of the Pacific Rural Press addressed the Future Farmers of Campbell Union high school last Thursday, presenting the sale of subscriptions of the Pacific Rural Press as a method of building up the club's treasury. A campaign to sell this farm paper was planned by the organization and will soon be inaugurated.

The following committees for future activities were appointed at Thursday's meeting: Frank DeRose and Mike Meyahara, supervise practice committee; Albert Frank and Tony Belardi, cooperative activities committee; Jack Belick and Joe Mancuso, community service; Tom Ogino and Albert Mancuso, leadership; Walter Amstutz and Tony Pisano, meetings; Charles Mazone and John Hobe, scholarship; Steve Lapetalo and Jack Beleck, recreation; Sam Manfre, John Motta, Ignatius Turturici, publicity.

These committees will report at the next meeting and a program of work for the ensuing year will be decided upon.

Miss Adele Grandeman, teacher at the Campbell grammar school, came back to work last week, but was forced to return to her home when she suffered a severe relapse. She is still confined at home.

"Eminent American Men" Subject of Country Women

The Country Woman's club held its first meeting of the month Monday Dec. 5th. Despite the prevalence of colds an appreciable number of members enjoyed the program provided by the committee for the day: Miss Schulte, Mrs. Leigh Saunders, and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

The topic for consideration was "Eminent American Men."

Miss Schulte read a paper on George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Ralph Waldo Emerson. It is always inspiring to hear again of the fine character and attainments of these men. Mrs. Saunders pleased all with her paper, an "Appreciation of Edison," saying how we take so for granted the marvels he invented.

Lincoln Steffens was the choice of Mrs. H. C. Smith. She gave a quick, clear outline of his life up to now and read such interesting bits from his autobiography that all who heard her will wish to read it and learn more of this man who has so thoroughly investigated bribery in our large cities.

Between papers there were musical numbers sung by the club, led by some of the members.

The next meeting, Dec. 19th, will be the Christmas meeting when contributions of jelly and jam or other food will be brought to the needy at Christmas time.

I. R. ABBOTT, NEW WORTHY MASTER CAMPBELL MASONS

Ira R. Abbott, superintendent of the local grammar school, was elected worthy master of Charity lodge No. 362 of the Masonic order at its regular meeting Monday night.

Other officers elected were C. E. York, senior warden; W. E. Vaughn, junior warden; Roy G. Archibald, treasurer; and T. A. Robinson, secretary.

These officers will be installed at the next meeting of the order, at which time Worthy Master Abbott will announce the appointive officers.

Mrs. M. E. Purmort Hostess To Pundita Circle Wednesday

Mrs. Mark E. Purmort entertained members of the Pundita circle Wednesday afternoon at her home on the Santa Clara-Los Gatos road. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. L. J. Carboni and Mrs. Yale Maxon.

A spicy Christmas atmosphere added zest to the party. Colorful toyon berries decorated the rooms. Community singing of Christmas carols opened the program, with Mrs. Carboni leading and Mrs. D. H. Cramer at the piano.

"Poetry" was the subject of the afternoon's program. Mrs. Carboni presented a paper on "Early Poetry and Poets," which discussed poetry from the time of the Bible up to the Victorian era and which was interspersed with quotations from the most important poets.

"Modern Poetry and Poets" was the topic of Mrs. Maxon, who quoted from the best known of the modern lyrists.

CIVIC GROUP DISCUSSES OLD SETTLERS' DAY

Plans for an Old Settlers' day celebration on Feb. 22 which will draw crowds from the entire Santa Clara valley were initiated at the chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday night, on the motion of S. N. Hedegard.

Committees for the event, appointed by H. M. Shadle, president, were: D. H. Cramer, speaker committee; Guy Farley, morning program committee; Country Woman's club, afternoon program committee; Kiwanis club, evening program; Dr. W. I. Merrill, music; John Young, publicity; S. N. Hedegard, finances.

In the reception of the old settlers, which will be the most important occurrence of the day, other communities and organizations will cooperate with the Campbell chamber of commerce. Committees for reception will be appointed by the president at the next meeting of the civic group.

DISCUSS ROADS

Extension of West Campbell avenue from the San Tomas road to the Prospect road has become a distinct possibility as a result of the efforts of S. N. Hedegard, chairman of the chamber of commerce road committee, who reported to his organization Tuesday night.

The new road will give Campbell more direct connection with Palo Alto, San Francisco, and the north, and will make possible the service of the Prospect road district by the Campbell shopping district, according to Mr. Hedegard.

Agreeing with Dr. W. I. Merrill that the time was opportune for road work, with materials and labor inexpensive, Mr. Hedegard said, "There is no necessity of delaying this road. It has been delayed 30 or 40 years too long now. It will be little over a mile long, and to build it the county supervisors will have to use only about six and one-half acres."

At the time that the extension to San Tomas road was petitioned, Mr. Hedegard stated, the continuation to Prospect was also discussed, but, since no record of this last is on file at the county office, a new petition will be necessary.

"In opening this road, we must get permission of the owners and mortgage holders of the ranches adjoining it," explained the realtor. "Finally, we must circulate a petition for the extension in Campbell and on the Prospect road. No new survey is needed, for one is on file in the county clerk's office."

Agreeing to a motion put by Dr. W. I. Merrill, the members decided to instruct a committee to circulate the petition for the road, and to put the work through, with the endorsement of the chamber of commerce.

Dan Yeager, secretary, suggested that work was necessary on New Jersey avenue, Casey road, and on the dirt roads on the west side of Campbell.

The design and cost of a large sign on Preston's garage, to be visible to passing airplanes, was given by President Shadle as the next work of the sign committee, headed by Dan Yeager.

preceded the program Mrs. D. H. Cramer, president, presided.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Slavianka Kosich Monday

Colma was the scene of funeral services held Monday for Mrs. Slavianka S. Kosich, 33, wife of Sam Kosich, Campbell rancher, who died last Friday after a long illness.

Surviving her are her husband Sam Kosich; her mother, Mrs. Stane Lepitich; five children, Christ, Lally, Wesley, Dewey, and Sophia Kosich, all of Campbell; three sisters, Nikola and Milka Lepitich and Mrs. O. Gokovich; and several cousins.

ABE KLASSEN, ODD FELLOWS' NOBLE GRAND

Abe Klassen was elected noble grand of the Morning Light lodge No. 42 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the meeting of that organization last Thursday night.

Other officers are Fred Jones, vice grand; Julius H. Bachman, recording secretary; Ed. Genasci, financial secretary; T. A. Robinson, treasurer; Horace Lea, trustee.

Installation of these officers will take place at the first meeting of next year on January 5th.

SEA SCOUTS HOSTS AT BANQUET FOR PARENTS TONIGHT

Mothers and fathers of local Sea Scouts will be honored at a scout banquet to be held tonight at 6 o'clock in the Congregational church, under the chairmanship of Henry Ruthnick, Alfred Beer, and William Halley.

Food, music, and instruction will be served the guests. An instrumental quartet, made up of Harry Bloom, Byron Bollinger, Elmer Sundquist, and Alfred Beer, the leader, will present Mr. Beer's orchestration of popular melodies.

Description of activities and accomplishments of the local crews will be given by William Halley, Henry Ruthnick, and Harry Bloom, who are officers of the Sea Scout organization.

Local Basketball Teams Defeat San Jose Quints Saturday

In two exciting games Campbell high cage teams scored a double victory over their San Jose opponents Saturday night at a benefit game held in Campbell.

The 130-lb. team rolled up a 22 score while San Jose scored 21; the unlimited team beat San Jose 9 to 6.

The 130-lb. and the unlimited basketball teams will play Los Gatos teams at Los Gatos Friday night.

Marionettes To Tread Boards At Auditorium Friday

A real giant and his equally overpowering wife may be witnessed on the Campbell grammar school stage Friday night when the Myriam Toles marionettes perform under the auspices of the Congregational women's guild.

"Jack and the Beanstalk" will be the feature of the entertainment. Two six-foot human men will act as giants and will perform with the tiny puppets.

Twenty puppets will be presented during the evening's performance and they will sing and dance and pose for Mother Goose rhymes, tableaux, as well as for the main play.

Educators and laymen of California praise the Myriam Toles marionette show highly, calling it charming, instructive and amusing.

During the prologue Friday evening Mrs. Donald Page will give several solos, accompanied by Miss Katherine Wood. Miss Wood will present several piano solos.

Since persons will not be admitted after the performance opens until the intermission time, the public is requested to come early Friday night. The show will open at 8:00 sharp. Tickets may be obtained at the door by those who have not bought them previously.

GRANGERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL WHIST PARTY SATURDAY

LIGHT AHEAD

Too often in the moments of discouragement which come to all of us in these days of depression we are prone to regard the present situation of the world as something pretty desperate, in an economic way than humanity has ever known. Yet if we will only stop to reflect for a moment we can see that this is not true. The winter of 1932-33, distressing as it is cannot hold a candle in comparison to the winter at Valley Forge. We thought we were bad off in 1930 but would be glad to get back to the condition of business we enjoyed then. The year end of the world was at hand. Now we know that 1932 was destined to be below 1931. But there is some encouragement in the fact that judging by most of indices, we have struck bottom. In 1932 we have liquidated the European troubles of 1931 which drove so many countries off the gold standard, and caused the raid on our own gold reserves, and the chances are brighter now that the time is not far distant when we will notice real improvement.

Some of the pessimistic prophets declare, however that we are now undergoing something new, and that the end of civilization is at hand. But a great many men who have studied the situation do not agree with the pessimists. For example, Dr. Von Kuehlmann, former foreign minister of Germany, says, that judging by the past we can now be assured that recovery is on the way. The first signs of it he thinks will appear in 1933, and the bottom has already been reached. Dr. Von Kuehlmann bases his belief on the study of depressions of the past and his observations are decidedly interesting. Here is what he says:

"Something like a more confident feeling exists now in this world. People have new hope, and even those who up now were steeped in pessimism and black despair begin to perceive dimly the silver lining of the clouds. It is like the coming of spring and sunnier days.

"The last 150 years of history have witnessed three wars which can be called great wars—the Napoleonic wars, the American (civil) war and the World war. History teaches us that after all these wars came a period of what we may call sham prosperity, which led to a boom of mad overspeculation. After the collapse of this came a period of deep depression with all the symptoms we are only too familiar with.

"If we assume that what happened after other great wars may repeat itself, we come to the conclusion that the coming year, 1933 will bring the first symptoms of recovery and a return to more normal business conditions. Even the year 1932, which is now nearing its end, has considerably contributed to laying the foundation for happier times."

At any rate, whether 1933 marks the real turning point or not, there is something more logical in the German expert's pinions, based on a study of history, than on the bare predictions of the pessimists. The effect that civilization is doomed. Surely here is more wealth in the world than there was in the times of the depressions noted above. We have the experience of past ages to go by, and we have the modern means of producing wealth, unknown a few years ago. Many assert that our ultra modern machinery is ruining society by displacing hand labor, but the same thing was said when the harvester and the steam engine were invented. New fields of effort are constantly being opened up and new comforts and conveniences made possible for the masses. Some of these days the world will catch its stride and we will forget about all our present fears. Let us hope that we will never forget the lessons we have learned in the depressions.

WATCH LATIN AMERICA

Today American industries of all kinds are looking southward—to Latin America. Here is the world's greatest storehouse of raw materials that enter daily into our lives. Here, too, is a "buying" population of 104,000,000 people, spread through eighteen countries.

Here is a vast land whose products we must have, and to whose people we must sell our goods; it is a land in which 200,000 of our citizens in all walks of life have invested some $1,700,000,000.

At the moment, depreciated values are the bugbear of Latin America and a barrier to mutually profitable trading between our country and its southern neighbors. But values will come back and Latin America will perhaps be the greatest single outlet for our goods and the indirect source of livelihood for hundreds of thousands of our workers. It is a land worth watching and understanding. Closer inter-American relations will help mold the destinies, not only of the western hemisphere, but of the entire world.

FLAGS FROM JAPAN

The following, taken from the columns of the Washington, D. C., Post, of recent date, ought to be of interest to all Americans, and should have some educational value for our free trader friends who are insisting that we ought to lower the tariffs so that foreign producers could get into our market—as if they were not already there:

"It would be thought that 'Old Glory' would be an exclusive American product; that all flags of the nation would be made in the United States, and that foreign competition would not be felt in this particular case.

"This is not so—at least in Washington, the capitol of these United States—because here it is impossible to buy a certain type of flag which does not bear the mark of origin, 'made in Japan.'

"The flags in question are tiny emblems—1 1/4 by 1 inch in dimensions—to be used usually for table decoration.

"That no other than foreign-made flags of this type were available in Washington was brought to the attention of The Post by the chairman of an entertainment committee of a civic group.

"He wanted to obtain the little banners to decorate a banquet table. He visited several merchants handling novelties only to find that the article he wished was in each case the product of a foreign land.

"In the end he was forced to buy the Japanese product. It has the prescribed 13 stripes but only 18 stars. Following the banquet he made a practically complete survey of stores in the city and found none that carried an American made American flag of this size.

"It seems that if one wishes tiny American flags of American manufacture there is only one way to get them—make them oneself.

"The Post learned that three years ago a leading patriotic organization determined to correct the situation and enlisted the aid of numerous governmental agencies. Evidence indicates that its efforts were not successful."

No doubt this little story of Japanese manufacturers and the American flag will bring a thrill of joy into the systems of the internationalists who seem to desire that our money go to Europe and Asia in the purchase of foreign goods, that our foreign policies and principles go to Geneva for renovation and alteration, and that our American boys if necessary go to the four corners of the world to settle whatever political disputes may arise, no matter whether we have an interest in them or not. If our foreign policies and our commodities are to be secured abroad, why not get our flags there too? This is only carrying internationalism to the Nth degree which is where all good internationalists want it to be carried. Only one step further is necessary—that an international emblem be substituted entirely for the Stars and Stripes—then the joy of our internationalists should be complete.

CHEAPER THAN CHARITY

This is addressed to the millions of Americans who have jobs and incomes and money to spend. Perhaps they haven't as much income as they did a few years ago—but the chances are that drops in cost of living have compensated for their salary cuts and lowered dividends.

These millions owe an obligation to those other millions who are unemployed, and are facing a hard winter of distress and poverty. That obligation can be partially—but only partially—met by contributions to charity. Of greater moment is the obligation to give their less fortunate fellows jobs.

All over the country there are homes in need of repair. People have been holding back refusing to spend—waiting for better times. And yet it's as obvious as the multiplication table that better times will never come until money again flows through the business arteries, and into the channels of trade. Today we can do some needed re-roofing, repair the bathroom, build a new room, repaint the home, fix the heating plant and a hundred other necessary improvements for a fraction of what they will cost in the future when better times actually do appear. By doing those things now, we are putting money into our own pockets—as well as into the pockets that are empty.

KIWANIS NOTES By Heck

At a closed meeting Tuesday local Kiwanians voted to eliminate the Christmas party this year and turn the funds over to an auxiliary committee to use in relief work.

Those appointed by President I. R. Abbott are Carl B. Field, the Rev. J. H. Bennett, the Rev. C. E. Irons, and Dr. W. I. Merrill, who will work cooperatively with the local relief committee, thereby avoiding duplications and even the triplications of former years, in serving the needy.

The grammar school orchestra, under the direction of A. A. Thielke, and the boy's glee club, directed by Mrs. Ruth Stuart, presented several numbers that were very much enjoyed. Under these able tutors our schools are producing some remarkable musical talent.

Monday evening Kiwanis school of instruction will be held at the grammar school, where dinner will be served at 7:00 P. M.

Friends of Miss Dorothy Merri-man will be glad to know that she is recovering from an operation performed on her knee Saturday. She is at present in O'Connor's sanitarium. The Misses Lou and Ethel Merriman of Englewood, sisters of the late Guy Merriman, are staying in Campbell with Miss Gladys Merriman.

THE FARMERS CORNER

By Ralph H. Taylor

No tampering with the state trespass law!

Such, in effect, is the sign posted by California farmers, in anticipation of the 1933 meeting of the State Legislature.

State-wide farm organizations, judging from recent developments in discussions of the issue, will present a united front against any attempts to weaken or modify the trespass act.

Nor will agriculture be alone in its fight against breakdown of the trespass statute.

Many state business groups, including the state chamber of commerce, have gone on record as firmly opposed to any change in the present law, backing up the stand taken by the California Cattlemen's association, the Agricultural Legislative committee of California, the California Wool Growers association and other outstanding farm bodies.

Strengthened at the last session of the Legislature after a prolonged and bitter battle, the trespass law will have added backing this year, due to the fact that the senate, under the new reapportionment act, will be pre dominantly a rural house.

Although city sportsmen's groups in some sections of the state have attempted to create sentiment for modification of the act, such an attempt, if carried into the legislature, would undoubtedly be met by counter proposals from some of the farm members to tighten up the act in its application to the fishermen.

The present law, which permits an owner of unfenced and uncultivated land to post against trespass by placing signs on unfenced property at the rate of three to the mile, was directed chiefly against hunters, due to the heavy losses suffered by livestockmen.

Anglers, however, still enjoy broad privileges under the trespass law and will fight shy of a legislative skirmish which might react against them.

Certain it is that agriculture, already beset by problems which threaten its very existence, cannot afford to let down the bars to wholesale trespassing on farm property. The farmer's right to earn a living must take precedence over the sportsmen's desire to hunt.

The conditions which provoked the demand for strengthening of the trespass law to cover unfenced land, as well as fenced properties included the destruction by hunters of farm property, the stampeding and shooting of cattle, frequent fires, with heavy losses to the farmer, and the usurpation of springs and water-holes needed for stock.

Sportsmen's organizations, when they consider the trespass act, might well consider what their own reaction would be if thousands of farmers descended on them each summer, camped on their lawns, littered their yards, and perforated their garages for target practice.

And having pondered the question they might adopt a policy of "live and let live" where the farmer is concerned. If the sportsmen were all educated to this viewpoint, there would be little need for trespass laws.
